

HOPPE HOLDS HIS BILLIARDS TITLE

Champion Outdoes Himself in Brilliant Shots in Defeating Demarest.

SPECTACULAR RUNS THRILL BIG CROWD

Challenger Makes Clever and Game Fight in 18.2 Balk-Line Match.

William Hoppe maintained his supremacy at 18.2 balkline billiard champion of the world last night despite the fact that his challenger, Calvin Demarest, thrilled the crowd by piling up a wonderful run and passing into the lead at one stage of the match. It was this bit of sensational play that thrilled the crowd that sat about the table in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor, although the score at the final shot of 500 points to 294.

In this run of 115 Demarest worked out a series of brilliant shots, and he was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Hoppe was the first to appear, and he was greeted with a lively round of applause. Then Demarest, the challenger, came along, and the welcome of the crowd continued for several minutes. The two youthful experts wasted no time, but after the preliminaries of weighing the ivory globes at once got to work, with Charles Peterson, the St. Louis professional, acting as referee.

Alfred J. Lill Extends Helm of Amateur Athletic Union

Elected President at the Annual Meeting Over George F. Pawling.

NEW FEDERATION OF SPORTS NOW IN AIR

Forty-three Records Established by Kolehmainen Approved by Athletic Body.

Alfred J. Lill, Jr., of Boston, was elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union at the twenty-sixth annual meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday.

Mr. Lill was unanimously chosen to succeed Gustavus Town Kirby, who has served as president for two years. George F. Pawling, of Philadelphia, was a candidate for the presidency, and many there were who predicted his election. On the first ballot, however, the vote stood 23 to 1 in favor of Lill, and Mr. Pawling immediately made a motion that the vote be made unanimous.

Edward E. Babb, a former president of the Amateur Athletic Union, nominated Mr. Lill, and the nomination was immediately seconded by Frederick Rubien, of the Metropolitan Association. Fred W. Bauer, of the Middle Atlantic Association, proposed Mr. Pawling, and was seconded by H. W. Fitzpatrick, of the Southern Association.

Other officers elected to serve for one year were as follows: First vice-president, John Elliot, of San Francisco; second vice-president, Theodore E. Bland, of the Western Association; third vice-president, George Turner, of the South Atlantic Association; fourth vice-president, Fred Bauer, of Philadelphia.

James E. Sullivan, who has devoted twenty-six years of his life to the uplifting of amateur sport, was once more chosen secretary and treasurer.

Messrs. Elliot and Bland were nominated for the first vice-presidency. They were tied at the first vote, and Mr. Bland at once withdrew. He was immediately elected second vice-president.

Immediately after the meeting was called to order Mr. Kirby, the outgoing president, made his annual address to the meeting. He pointed out that the year had shown a decided advance and was most successful from both the athletic and financial sides. He said, in part:

"In the opinion of your president, the organization meeting of the International Athletic Federation, held in Berlin in August last, was one of the greatest potentialities of the year. It should give a better understanding between nations and a more general adoption of reasonable and uniform rules for competition in track and field athletics primarily and in all amateur sports in general.

"It is also your president's opinion that the union would do well to foster a closer relationship with workers in playgrounds and other recreational centers. This attitude is neither new nor novel. In point of fact, he hoped, by the appointment as chairman of the public recreation committee of the union of a gentleman of great reputation and prominence in work of this kind, that a decided step in this direction would be taken. Unfortunately, by reason of conditions over which your president has no control, the work of this committee has never been active or progressive, and the conditions stand today in this respect practically as they did a year ago.

"Your president has advocated two things—first, that this union should permit competition in track and field athletics between teams, of which one team might be composed of students from some educational institution who were studying to make them teachers or instructors in playground, gymnasium or other recreational centers, and none of whom has become a professional by reason of having competed for money or on grounds of such character; second, that a competition be sanctioned between an athlete who was an amateur and one who was an out-and-out professional, having become so by his competitions for money or the equivalent.

"Your president urges upon you his belief that the Amateur Athletic Union should be the one to recognize the American Federation of Amateur Sports, and that the Amateur Athletic Union should seek to establish as many national bodies as possible, each to control one sport, or such number of sports as are closely connected with one another; that the aim of the union should be to ultimately have jurisdiction over no sports other than track and field athletics, and that it should seek to establish associations for the control of basketball, swimming, gymnastics, etc., and as soon as such gymnastics are established to turn over to them the control of such particular sport.

"As to the feasibility of the formation of an American Federation of Amateur Sports your president begs to report that he has talked with many prominent sportsmen of this country, and that the consensus of their opinion seems to be that the scheme is feasible, and that, under the influence of this union, the same could be put into effect. To this scheme your president hopes you will give serious and painstaking consideration."

In closing his address Mr. Kirby intimated in no uncertain manner that he was not serene in the inner workings of the Amateur Athletic Union. He became bitter, and at times injected a subtle sarcasm into his speech which could not be mistaken as he said:

"Your president retires to-day from office in this union. As soon as the proper formalities can be completed with the intercollegiate association in the council of this union, and another will take his place. Under the present system he is inequitable and prejudicial, unless he is not apt to be overburdened with a knowledge of the detailed workings of the union or even of important committees thereof; and for this among other reasons your president feels that he has not been of that service to the union that the honor and prominence of his office should produce."

The report of the treasurer showed that it had assets of $34,757.24, a gain over last year of $3,161.56. The total receipts for the year amounted to $9,741.30, while the total disbursements amounted to $6,579.74. Boxing was the greatest source of revenue, $2,084.41 being realized in this way.

The reports of the committees were accepted as read. The report of the record committee showed that Hannes Kolehmainen, of Finland, now representing the Irish-American A. C., had won three records, while Drew, the negro runner, of Springfield, was credited with three new marks.

The records of A. S. Robinson, the

SMITH BEATS LANGFORD

Has Better of It in Slashing Twelve-Round Bout.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Boston, Nov. 17.—"Gunboat" Smith won his right to first consideration in the ranks of the heavyweight boxers by decisively outpointing Sam Langford in a hard twelve-round contest here to-night. When Dick Fleming, the referee, raised Smith's glove after the final round there was not a dissenting voice in the house. The white man had the better of eleven out of the twelve rounds, and went to his corner comparatively fresh, while Langford, once rated mightiest of the mighty, was badly used up.

Smith's boxing was a revelation to all. He showed that wild, right hand swing, which would certainly have made him an open target for the sledge hammer counters of Langford, and standing off at long range, worked a left hand jab and hook to the head which popped through the black warrior's guard, forcing him to break ground.

Langford was not on the receiving end at all times, however. At intervals he fought fiercely, and well. His right hand thudded home to the body and head, but Smith, perfectly conditioned for the fray, took the blows without wincing. In the fifth round Langford closed Smith's eye with a hard right swing, but he paid dearly for the privilege, as Smith cut loose.

In the closing rounds Langford rallied, but he was never able to cut down the lead Smith had piled up in the early rounds.

Freddie Haas, of Harlem, had a slight shade the better of "One Round" Hogan at the Olympic Athletic Club, of Harlem, last night. Hogan tried with might and main to put over a finishing punch in the closing rounds, but was never able to land.

"Batting" Levinsky, Danny Morgan's latest champion, will indulge in a little strenuous exercise at Brown's Gymnasium to-night. Levinsky will cross gloves with Tim Logan, of Philadelphia, and expects to win handily. Logan, however, is a sturdy warrior, with some cleverness and a hard wallop.

Phil Cross, the East Side welterweight, and Frankie Madden will exchange the courtesies of the ring in a ten-round bout at the Atlantic Garden to-night. Madden is boxing at top speed and expects to do well.

Carlisle Eleven Not to Take Long Trip, However. (By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Carlisle, Penn., Nov. 17.—The Carlisle Indians are looking toward the Syracuse game at Syracuse on Saturday with more apprehension than would be generally expected of the team which defeated Dartmouth so decisively.

The squad had a light practice. Notwithstanding that the varsity men had permission to lay off the afternoon, nearly all appeared in togs, to refute any idea that they were banged up.

The Carlisle officials this afternoon decided to decline the deluge of offers received from more than forty towns and institutes in the Far West and South for post-season games. The authorities feel that they cannot allow the Indian students to be absent from their studies, as would be made necessary by a long trip. As it is, Carlisle plays the longest and the hardest schedule of all American elevens.

Officials feel that a public statement is due because of the widespread reports that they would travel West and South. An avalanche of invitations from clubs and city boards of trade from west of the Mississippi has struck Carlisle because of the unfounded rumors.

hurdles ten yards apart, ten yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 6:09 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

75 yards (indoor), six hurdles, 2 ft. 4 in. high five yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 1:10 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

100 yards (indoor), six hurdles, 2 ft. 4 in. high five yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 1:10 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

150 yards (indoor), six hurdles, 2 ft. 4 in. high five yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 1:10 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

200 yards (indoor), six hurdles, 2 ft. 4 in. high five yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 1:10 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

250 yards (indoor), six hurdles, 2 ft. 4 in. high five yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 1:10 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

300 yards (indoor), six hurdles, 2 ft. 4 in. high five yards to first hurdle, ten yards to finish, 1:10 1/2; J. I. Wentworth, Jr., winner, at indoor championships, New York City, March 6, 1913.

INTERESTING GOLF CLUB YEAR BOOK

Tells All About the Plainfield Organization—Pennsylvania Handicap List.

One of the most interesting year books of golf in this district is that of the Plainfield Country Club, which distributed its 1913 issue yesterday. Besides the complete history of the organization, the usual officers and constitution and rules, there is a completely compiled roster of active members and their addresses and a list of associate and junior members.

There is also a system for handicapping, a pet theory of Leighton Calkins, who has been president of the organization for the last five years. The annual meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 2.

The Western Pennsylvania Golf Association has issued its handicap list for the year. More than 1,000 names are contained in the roster, and the handicaps range from scratch to 22. Only two players receive premier honor—William C. Fowles, Jr., of Oakmont, and Eben M. Byers, of Allegheny, both former national champions.

George Low, the professional of the Baltusrol Golf Club, who recently resigned, has withdrawn his resignation and will remain at his old post. The slight differences which existed between Low and some of the club officials have been smoothed over, but it will not deter the former metropolitan open champion from his contemplated trip to Scotland. He will sail on December 13, returning in time to begin the regular golf season in the spring.

The St. Andrews Golf Club will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary with a dinner at Delmonico's to-morrow night. The actual date is November 18, but it was found impossible to hold the dinner at that time, so it was put over a day.

John Reid, "the father of American golf," will be one of the principal guests. Among the invited guests are Andrew Carnegie, Nicholas Murray Butler, Irving Fletcher, Patrick Francis Murphy, Robert C. Watson, president of the United States Golf Association, and Frederick S. Wheeler, president of the Metropolitan Golf Association.

L. E. K. White was presented with the gold medal emblematic of the club championship at the annual dinner of the Glenwood Country Club last Saturday evening. Frank Tasker was the recipient of the president's cup, while the "ringer" trophy became the property of William S. Silkworth.

Army and Navy Orders. (From The Tribune Bureau.) Washington, November 17. ORDERS ISSUED.—The following army and navy orders have been issued:

Colonel WILLIAM A. NICHOLSON, Cavalry, assigned to 2d Cavalry, January 1, vice Colonel FRANK WEST.

Colonel WILLIAM C. STOLL, Infantry, First Lieutenant, assigned to 15th Infantry, vice Colonel FRANK WEST.

Lieutenant Commander F. D. KARN, navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Lieutenant J. C. PEGRAM, detached navy yard, Mare Island.

Marine Intelligence and Shipping News from Near and Far

MINIATURE ALMANAC. Sunrise, 6:40; sunset, 4:41; moon rises, 8:41; moon's age, 11; day of the week, Tuesday.

HIGH WATER. Sandy Hook, 10:28; Governor's Island, 10:30; Hell Gate, 12:23.

WIRELESS REPORTS. The C. P. Tietgen, reported as 690 miles east of Sandy Hook at 11:10 a. m. yesterday, is expected to dock Wednesday forenoon.

INCOMING STEAMERS. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time.

OUTGOING STEAMERS. TO-DAY. Vessel. For. Line. Date. Time. Vessel. For. Line. Date. Time.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time. From. Line. Vessel. Date. Time.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.

STEAMERS AT FOREIGN PORTS. ARRIVED. Cape Town, Nov. 17—C. MacIntyre (Br), New York.